Bridging the Gap Between Research and Practice

As the [global?] cleaning industry's only peer-reviewed research publication, CIRI's Journal of Science brings cutting-edge research to academics and practitioners across the field. At this year's CIRI Symposium, we're continuing to bridge the gap. Join us in exploring current debates in the industry, interpreting new findings, and visiting key case studies, all in the service of stronger techniques and better outcomes. Whether in healthcare or [], [] or [], we're working to build a defter, more informed cleaning industry. Come learn, discuss, and connect!
